Dear Nimrod,

"Before I became a chief minister, I never thought that one day I'd be the chief minister" -- Hon. PM Narendra Modi

What you've never experienced is hard to imagine. Vision, and achieving that vision, is what the entire country of India is about these days. As I meet Indians of every station I am amazed by the spirit of this country.

However, achieving a vision is not easy - a farmer who has 24 bad mangoes out of 25 on his tree can barely see tomorrow ....

..... and would never think that "one day" he could be exporting his fruit - which, as astonishing as it may seem, is now in his hands to attain:

INDIA MANGO

The Obsession

India's vision isn't for "getting by is good enough". India's vision is for clean healthy food for everyone, for all small farmers to be able to earn an honorable living from their groves, and for an economy in which India exports its fabulous produce to countries around the world.

As of today with Biofeed's GCFR technology, this has moved from "I never thought that one day" to "we can do it this season!".

Indian farmers, farmer organizations, and fruit companies can sell twice as much fruit as currently within the Indian market by drastically reducing losses due to fruit flies, and then sell it (again) for twice the price on the export markets that become available to them as their produce becomes fruit fly-free.

And for leaders - government leaders, scientific leaders, business and export leaders - you are in a position to act, and act now, to improve the lives of the farmers by drastically reducing fruit fly infestation:

African & Asian Leaders; act now, don't wait

From this point on it is up to you to pick it up, and turn the vision into a reality for others to enjoy and remember!

Regards,

Nimrod

P.S. You bring your vision and ability to act (now), and we'll bring our vision and proven success at reducing fruit fly damage - together we will create a new reality for millions of people (Indians and others...).

P.P.S. Actually I'm not envious - it could be that developing Biofeed's GCFR technology was simpler than changing the mindset of "how things are is how they have to be". 1.3 billion Indians are in the process of the changes led by the Hon. Prime Minister Narendra Modi - Biofeed is dedicated and proud to be able to help his vision become a reality!
